Mid-America Door Design Options

As you will discover in the following pages, Mid-America Door Company's Hand-Crafted Wood covered doors are designed and built with longevity, precision, value and style in mind! While many in the industry have taken shorts-cuts, usually for cost-cutting measures, we at Mid-America have concentrated on supplying a superior product, while offering affordability, durability and quality. Our Doors are 100% Hand-Crafted from the highest quality materials available. All door frames are Hand-Crafted to exacting specifications. The doors are hardware to include struts, and come ready to install... no set-up is required. The tongue & groove and varying design options are all applied to the door frames using the utmost care to ensure the greatest degree of quality that is possible in the finished product.

Quality is the Key!

This finished bottom frame section, showing cross-bracing, is manufactured resembling a truss to increase strength and durability. Here, we see the bottom section of a 16' x 7' frame set illustrating the cross-braces installed to prevent the "smiley-face" effect.

This intermediate finished frame section reveals the rigidity and continuity Mid-America Door strives for in providing customers the best products available in the industry.

Opener plates are pre-installed on all of our doors.

Mid-America installs two struts per section on all doors exceeding 13' in width to prevent sway and warp tendencies. All fixtures, struts and hinge assemblies are commercial grade products and are attached to the frame sets using precise measurements to ensure exact alignment for ease of installation and proper function for years to come.

CW Custom Crafted doors have all hinges, struts and fixtures attached to the frame sets using high-strength carriage bolts, thru-bolted through the frame. There are no "lags" in our doors excepting the inside lock. The process provides the customer with a superior product in quality and service to other covered doors on the market!
